

PRIMEXCHANGE 2010 – Call for Applications

Professional Training for Independent European and Indian Film Producers

In order to initiate international market exchange and the exchange of ideas, PRIMEXCHANGE focuses on the field of project development. The professional training program offers a multi-dimensional and trans-national analysis of the project's potential for independent European and Indian film and TV producers. Each project will be evaluated comprehensively with respect to the fields of script analysis, market research, financing/funding, distribution, world sales and games/interactive media.

How does it work?

The successful development of the individual projects as well as the networking between European and Indian participants and experts is the main focus of the workshop. The program combines workshop elements with lecture units and individual coaching sessions. Training and consulting in script development, market research, financing, distribution/world sales, and games/interactive media is provided by leading international experts from the film industry. Group and individual sessions with experts provide opportunities for interdisciplinary exchange as well as intensive working meetings.

Target group

Independent European and Indian film producers or teams consisting of a producer and a screenwriter could apply with a concrete feature-length Film project in the stage of packaging. A maximum of 4 European and 4 Indian projects will be selected for participation in the workshop.
